No Pay for Graduate Assistants

Faculty should be aware that about 400 of our UT Graduate Assistants did not get paid on Friday, August 28, 2020. It was reported in the media that the missing Graduate Assistant checks on Friday were the result of a payroll error (<https://www.toledoblade.com/local/education/2020/08/28/university-of-toledo-graduate-assistants-affected-by-payroll-delay/stories/20200828148>)

Many of our Graduate Assistants have worked for two weeks without pay. It is possible they may not be paid until the next payroll on September 9, 2020. We hope the Postel Administration can quickly correct the problem and immediately issue paychecks to our Graduate Assistants. They should not have to wait until the next payroll and go four weeks without pay. Many are financially struggling.

Science faculty have reported the delay was caused by new paperwork recently introduced by the Postel Administration.
